ROOM TO RELAX is a main feature of the Delta DC-4. This type ship now flies non-stop from Chicago to Miami in just 6 hours.

Chicago-Miami Non-Stop Cuts Trip To Six Hours

DELTA inaugurates non-stop service between Chicago and Miami on November 1, the first scheduled non-stops ever operated between the two cities, with a 6-hour schedule that slashes almost 2 hours from Delta's best previous time with DC-4's and saving almost 4 hours over DC-3 flights.

Luxurious fast DC-4's, with 44 roomy seats spaced out in cabins that can take up to 60, are used for the non-stop flights. Four powerful engines speed the big ships over the 1311-mile Chicago-Miami hop at an average speed of 218 miles per hour.

Delta, which inaugurated its DC-4 service out of Chicago last March 6 with its now-famous "Rocket" flight, will continue to operate other high speed express flights which make intermediate stops at Knoxville, Atlanta, Savannah, and Jacksonville. A total of 8 flights daily of which 3 are DC-4's, will operate from Chicago south, 5 to Miami, 2 to Charleston, S. C., and 1 to Savannah.

Delta Opens Air Service To Lexington, Kentucky

Home of the thoroughbred horse industry, gateway to Kentucky's blue grass regions, Lexington is now a regular stop on Delta's Chicago-Miami flights. Daily flight schedules followed the opening of Lexington's new municipal airport. Flights to Florida will be over two routes, one through Atlanta and the other via Piedmont cities. Northbound flights are to Cincinnati and Chicago.

NOW—5c AIR MAIL

A flat rate of five cents per ounce for air mail to anywhere in the nation or U. S. possessions; also to Mexico, Canada and service men abroad, is now in effect. The new air mail stamp shown above features a Douglas DC-4, of the type flown by Delta, and is the first time a current plane has been used on a stamp. War-time air mail rate was eight cents. But 20 years ago, when airlines first began carrying mail, the rate was 48 cents per ounce, for delivery just within the United States.

OLDEST PASSENGER so far on Delta is Mrs. Jane Stevenson, 97, who flew recently from Atlanta to Miami. Youngest, a two-day old boy.

DELTA was the first line to offer passenger service across the Deep South. That was eighteen years ago, on the original Delta route between Dallas and Birmingham and later Atlanta. Six passengers made up an ample load for the 90-mile-per-hour Travelaires. Fares were about 10 cents per mile, without meals or stewardess service. Today's rates are 4½ cents per mile, at 215 miles per hour in four-engined Deltaliners, with higher speeds to come.

You're more than a file card ... to Delta

Passengers are persons to Delta—not just file cards or names but individuals deserving comfort and consideration. Whether your trip is for business or pleasure, let us help make each flight not only fast but pleasant—from reservation to destination.

Penalty on No-Shows to Make More Seats Available

Now in effect on all domestic airlines, including Delta, is a program designed to provide more airline seats by alleviating the "no-show" problem. The plan, briefly stated:

1. Reservations are tentative and are not "firm" until passengers have purchased tickets within a specified time after being advised space is available. Passengers also are required to contact the airline involved to confirm their intention to use return reservations or continuing reservations at points of connection.

2. A 25 per cent service charge, or a minimum of $2.50, will be made when reservations are not used and not cancelled prior to 10 minutes before flight departure. No charge is levied if the air line receives word of the cancellation by telephone, telegram, mail, or in person, prior to 10 minutes before departure time of the flight.
